

HUERTA MAKES NEW DEMANDS WHICH WOULD DESTROY VALUE OF PROPOSED APOLOGY SALUTE

MEXICAN DICTATOR NOW PRESUMES TO ASK THAT HIS SALUTE TO STARS AND STRIPES BE ANSWERED
SIMULTANEOUSLY GUN FOR GUN.

WILL TEMPORIZE NO LONGER

Administration's Officials Will Submit to No Further Parley According to Late Advices at Washington—Wilson Calls Cabinet Meeting—Meanwhile Battleships Continue to Mexican Waters.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 17.—Huerta has parleyed again. He demands that his salute to the United States flag shall be returned simultaneously gun for gun. This President Wilson is practically certain not to accept.

This latest hitch at the eleventh hour when officials here expected the situation was as good as closed up, was discovered in dispatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy. The president discussed the matter with the cabinet today.

Administration officials said that Huerta's counter proposition would not be accepted. This confirms the fear of those officials who expected Huerta would equivocate again. Any intention of recalling the ships of the fleet now bound to Tampico was abandoned and those close to the administration expected to see President Wilson's demand for a full apology backed up. The text of the latest dispatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy was not made public but it became known that Huerta's latest proposal was that as his guns fired their salute to the stars and stripes as an apology for continued affronts to the United States, particularly the recent arrest of the blue jackets at Tampico, that guns of the American fleet should reply to the Mexican salute, gun for gun. Officials here were ready to acknowledge Huerta's salute of 21 guns after it had been fired with a return salute, such as is prescribed in naval custom, and precedent.

Apology of No Value.
This would be merely an acknowledgment amenable to the president. But to return Huerta's salute gun for gun, they pointed out would make the apology valueless.

Officials discussed Huerta's latest move as an act to preserve his own dignity before Mexicans of that part of the country under his control. While President Wilson and the cabinet will decide what shall be done, the position was expressed freely in official circles that nothing but a complete apology and such a salute as the United States demands would be accepted now.

While Secretary Bryan said when he took the latest dispatches to the president, the situation was "encouraging but not finished," and White House officials said the details remaining in dispute did not affect the "heart of the matter," it developed that Huerta's counter proposition for a simultaneous salute was regarded as another play for time and this probably would not be countenanced.

All the late dispatches were laid before the cabinet. Practically all members of the official family are said to be agreed that there should be no further temporizing.

When the cabinet meeting adjourned Secretary Bryan stated the negotiations were "encouraging" but not final.

"I have received one message from Charge O'Shaughnessy and have sent one in reply," he said.

Other members of the cabinet said Huerta had been informed that no simultaneous salute would be acceptable to this government.

Must Accede to Demand.
Secretary Bryan left the cabinet meeting while it was still in session to go to the state department and send some dispatches. He made no statement as to their nature but it was understood that he had gone to Huerta to that a simultaneous salute would not be accepted and that Charge O'Shaughnessy had been advised that the United States would insist upon its demand. Officials expressed the view that Huerta has been listening to bad advice since he promised yesterday that he would give the apology. Meanwhile it was emphasized that no counter orders have been issued to the fleet speeding to the Mexican coast. A blockade of Mexico and other drastic measures was discussed in official circles. (Those well informed on conditions said that if Huerta did not accede to the demand for an apology, some announcement of what steps would be taken would be made in Washington.)

Make Unqualified Demand.
Huerta's latest equivocation over the apology to the United States flag has been met with the unqualified demand for a salute of 21 guns as originally ordered by Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico. The American warships will return their salute to the Mexican salute, gun for gun. This word went forward to Mexico City today after President Wilson and the cabinet had discussed Huerta's latest proposal, that the salute be a simultaneous one and that he be assured that the American ships will return the fire. President Wilson and his advisors considered the matter and Secretary Bryan left the cabinet meeting to reply to Huerta's latest proposal. He intended to have that salute, said Secretary Daniels. Other officials reiterated that the United States would have no more temporizing, but a complete apology for the indignities to the Americans.

Secretary Bryan instructed Charge O'Shaughnessy finally to inform Huerta that the United States warships will accept nothing but the salute of 21 guns and at the same time the American ships will reply after the salute has been fired.

Follow the Code.
At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting it was announced that the government would insist upon the salute of twenty-one guns as ordered by Admiral Mayo, and that following the international code the fleet would return the salute but not until after Mexico had fired the salute. This word was forwarded to Charge of Affairs O'Shaughnessy, who was instructed to inform Director Huerta that nothing short of a salute of twenty-one guns would be accepted, and that the United States vessels will reply after it had been made.

Stand Firm.
President Wilson and his advisors considered the matter carefully and then reached the above decision. Secretary Bryan left the cabinet meeting to send the messages. Secretary of the Navy Daniels said: "We intend to have that salute. Others present stated that there would be no more temporizing, but a complete apology for the indignities to Americans would be demanded."

DATA SHOWING STRENGTH
ON UNITED STATES FLEET
NOW STEAMING SOUTHWARD

[SPECIAL TO THIS GAZETTE.]
Washington, April 17.—When Admiral Badger arrives at Tampico he will have the following fighting ships under his command:

Battleships—Arkansas, Capt. Ross; New Hampshire, Capt. Edwin A. Anderson; Michigan, Capt. Albert P. Niblack; 8 12-inch guns; Vermont, Capt. George W. Kline, 24 guns; New Jersey, Capt. Joseph J. Janne; 24 guns; South Carolina, Capt. Robert L. Russell, 8 12-inch guns; Connecticut, Capt. John J. Knapp, 24 guns; Kansas, Capt. William B. Fletcher, 24 guns; Minnesota, Capt. Edward Simpson, 20 guns; Ohio, Capt. Josiah C. McKean, 20 guns; Maine, gunboat; Lieut.-Com. Ralph Barle, 2 guns; Nashville, gunboat; Commander L. A. Bowditch, 2 guns; Tacoma, cruiser, Commander Nathan C. Whiting, 10 guns; Chester, cruiser, Commander W. A. Moffat, 2 guns; Solace, hospital ship; Hancock, transport.

Under Rear Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz there will be:

Destroyers—Florida, Capt. William R. Rush, 26 guns; Utah, Capt. Louis S. Vanduser, 26 guns; San Francisco, mine depot ship, Commander William K. Harrison; Prairie, transport.

On these vessels are 6,000 blue-jackets and 3,000 marines available for landing duty. Each vessel is equipped with two landing batteries. The marines aboard the Prairie and the Hancock are fully equipped for field service, carrying with them landing batteries and machine guns. Also field telegraph service and wireless apparatus.

The marines with the fleet was distributed as follows:

About 100 on each of the battleships 1,300 on the Hancock, 600 on the Prairie and 200 on the Chester. The Chester is equipped with the most powerful wireless apparatus afloat and is kept at Tampico in order that Admiral Fletcher may communicate direct with Washington in the event of cable trouble.

The battleships Rhode Island, Nebraska, Virginia and Georgia, now undergoing overhauling, is expected to be completed to Tampico. They are of the Clemson line, with 20 guns each. The complement of the vessels is 800 men each. There are about 100 marines on each vessel.

The torpedo flotilla ordered in readiness by Secretary Daniels consists of the following vessels:

Birmingham, cruiser, flagship of Commander-in-Chief, William S. Gurnea; Commander W. V. Pratt, two guns; Dixie, leader, third division destroyers; Henley, Frayton, Mayrant, McColl, Warrington, fourth division; Pauline, Ammiral, Burrows, Patterson, Trippe, fifth division; Fanning, Rodie, Jarvis, Jenkins, Joubert, sixth division; Cassin, Cummings, Duncan, seventh division; Avila, Balch, Benham and Parker.

The United States now has on the Pacific coast of Mexico the following vessels:

At Mazatlan are the Raleigh, Annapolis, Yorktown and New Orleans. At Corrientes and Acapulco are the Denver, California and Glacier. At San Diego, Cal., are the destroyers Iris, Whipple, Truxton, Perry, Paul Jones, Stewart and the tender Cayenne.

Also at San Francisco are the cruisers Cleveland, Maryland and Marblehead, the transport Buffalo, Collier, Jupiter and tender Alert. At the Bremerton yard are the cruisers Pittsburgh, Vicksburg, West Virginia, South Dakota, Albany and Colorado.

On the Pacific coast are 3,000 marines. Most of these are stationed at Mare Island and in readiness for immediate service. They have received instructions to be prepared to move.

Tacoma Starts South.
Newport, R. I., April 17.—The cruiser Tacoma, which arrived here last night after a stormy passage from Boston, sailed today to join the Atlantic fleet at Tampico.

Governor of Canal Zone Expected to Testify in Favor of Repeal of Exemption Clause

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 17.—Colonel George Goethals has been summoned before the senate canal committee to testify on the exemption feature of the Panama canal treaty. He is expected to speak in favor of repeal.

Colonel Goethals was asked to appear at the request of Senator Simmons, the date set for the close of the hearing.

In that event Senator Simmons will not ask for an adjourned hearing but will request that Colonel Goethals testimony be incorporated in records or presented on the floor of the senate.

Sentiment seems to be crystallizing in the committee today for an amendment to the Panama canal treaty repealing that the United States will give up no right of sovereignty over the canal by the repeal of exemptions. Supporters of that movement hoped to win the president to their views.

DEFENDS FLETCHER'S
RURAL CREDIT BILL

Ohio State Professor Declares Law Will Mean Increased Agricultural Production

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., April 17.—"If the Moss-Fletcher rural credit bill becomes a law, it will emancipate the American farmer from the shackles of interest and the domination of farm loans," declared Dean Homer C. Price, of the Ohio state university of agriculture, before the Western Economics Society today. "It will mean better things for American agriculture and increased agricultural production."

The Moss-Fletcher bill, Dean Price explained, is one of the rural credit bills now before congress. It was drawn up by the commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate the rural credit institutions of Europe. It is said to have the support of the administration.

The bill, legalizing the establishment of either joint stock companies or co-operative national farm banks, provides for the issuing of national farm mortgage bonds as securities for loans. It is provided that the farm lands of the co-operative national farm banks shall be exempt from all other property held by these banks, except real estate, is also exempt from taxation. Coupled with this is the provision that the interest rate charged the farmer shall not exceed on per centum the rate of interest paid on the bonds which are secured by the farmer's mortgage.

Price, the exemption of national farm banks from taxation, and the limitation of interest charges will do more to get the farmer interested in rural credit than anything else that can be done.

"Conditions have been investigated both at home and abroad and no far-sighted person any longer doubts the need of a better rural credit system in this country."

Aged Man Tries to Kill Mitchell as He Was Leaving the City Hall This Noon

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, April 17.—An assassin's bullet aimed at Mayor Mitchell as he was leaving the city hall today, missed its mark but badly wounded Frank Koch, corporation counsel. The man who fired the shot was overpowered. His name is David Rose. His age was questioned by a score of detectives. He refused to answer any question about himself. Two letters addressed to Mayor Mitchell were found in his clothes.

It occurred at the Park Row entrance at the city hall shortly after 12 o'clock. At that time of day Park Row is congested with hundreds of people going to and from lunch.

Appointment of Daniels Meets La Follette's Disapproval According to Editorial Today

[SPECIAL TO THIS GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 17.—"What an inspiring spectacle to the millions who voted for Wilson as a true progressive to see him in one short year triumph over progressive democrats and progressive republicans by securing the support and advice of that remains of the old Aldrich oligarchy in the United States senate. It reminds thoughtful men of the beginning of the second year of the reign of one William Howard Taft."

This public statement was made by Senator La Follette today in the course of his comment on the appointment of Winthrop M. Daniels of New Jersey as a member of the interstate commerce commission. His views on the Daniels appointment and its confirmation by the senate are published in an editorial under the title of "Turning the Corner."

"Has President Wilson turned the corner," asks Senator La Follette. "The question which has been forced upon us by the progressive democratic and progressive republican friends many times in the last few months," continues the senator. "He then makes a series of specific instances to illustrate the stand taken by the president on important matters of legislation."

The form which began the examination, by what is known as the money power, as the public will ultimately discover. For five months the senate's bill has been held in a committee of the house. He said in a committee of the house, taken by the president on this subject, "is a surrender to the great combinations which control water transportation."

Senator La Follette then discusses the appointment of Winthrop M. Daniels, as a member of the interstate commerce commission, declaring that the record of the senator's record was so well satisfied with Mr. Daniels' record in favor of public utility corporations that they came to President Wilson and urged him to confirm the Daniels' appointment.

WANTS VETO POWER
IN PEOPLE'S HANDS

One of Wisconsin's Political Doctors
Airs His Theory on Governor's Veto

[SPECIAL TO THIS GAZETTE.]
Madison, April 17.—The veto power of the governor should be curtailed, or abolished, instead of being extended, is the view of Chief Clerk F. M. Wylie of the state senate, who has been making a study of the subject. In an interview today he discussed Governor McGovern's special message advocating the veto for items in the budget bills and his submission of this question to the town meetings.

"The veto power of the governor should be curtailed instead of extended," said Mr. Wylie. "The referendum, when made a part of the constitution, will place the veto in the hands of the people. The veto of the governor should then at the most be merely advisory, as are his messages, and a bill should pass after veto by the same vote that it required for the first instance. The two-thirds vote now required for the governor's veto should be abolished, it not immediately upon the adoption of the referendum, at least when the legislature is reorganized from its present impracticable form into a more continuous session, scientific law making body."

Veto by People.
"In the constitutional device of our forefathers the veto was a necessary veto was necessary. At least our forefathers thought so. But a scientific constitution constituted legislature and a veto in the people will provide means, once the people are no longer opposed to the same end—the prevention of poorly drafted, ill-considered, or unpopular legislation."

The occasional good use of the veto in the hands of a moderate and conscientious executive is offset by the continuous vice of the veto power in the hands of an undemocratic or unscrupulous executive. Its log rolling propensities are enormous. It is often used to make partisan measures that should be non-partisan. Its use for revenge is common. Its power is equal in votes to one-sixth of the legislature in Wisconsin's one-house assembly and five senators. And its real powers of coercion and revenge are much greater.

To add to the executive power would be a step in the wrong direction. Governmental functions today are so vast and so complicated that they must be largely placed in the hands of specialists and experts. It is true that the veto is the only check and balance movement and of the new legislature which I advocate, but the power to curb must be placed with the people, or this system is dangerous to democracy."

Application of Recall.
"For this reason, the initiative, referendum, and recall should be adopted before the legislature is reorganized. And by this reason the recall should be applied to commissioners and other important appointive officers with quasi-legislative, quasi-judicial, quasi-administrative functions. And for this reason, when the power to vote is placed in the hands of the people by the adoption of the referendum, the veto power of the executive should be curtailed, and when the legislature is reorganized, the veto should be abolished."

"Perhaps the governor and elective state officials should be members of the new legislature, to fix responsibility of administration, but I do not believe that the veto should be a dominating influence. Responsibility would be sufficiently fixed by executive messages and administrative acts. Then the attention of the people would be directed to the legislators, and the laws for which the people would be responsible, and which, by the initiative, referendum, and recall, would always be within reach of the people."

Successful Operation: The operation performed at the Mercy hospital yesterday noon, on Mrs. Clyde Haus, proved to be a success. Mrs. Haus' condition is much improved today.

MISS WILSON TO WED

No Intimation Given as to Intentions of Calling a Special Session

Madison, Wis., April 17.—The member state highway commission consulted with Governor McGovern yesterday, at his request, over the situation of the towns which voted on the highway aid proposition six days ago. A hint was given as to what position the governor will take with reference to calling a special session of the legislature. One member said, however, that the return so far received indicate that the highway appropriation made by the last legislature, which it is proposed to repeal if a special session be ordered, will all be called for by the time the towns on April 1st.

The vote of the towns on April 1st, the calling of a special session on this ground alone, for the state is not likely to repudiate its contract with the towns and counties.

TO BANQUET LADIES ON TUESDAY EVENING

Annual Gathering of Twilight Club Will Equal in Brilliance Those of Former Years.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the annual ladies' night banquet of the Twilight club which will be held on Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Members of the committee in charge are sparing no effort to make the evening conform to the high standard of excellence of former years so that the gathering will be a brilliant one. Over a hundred couples are expected. John M. Whitehead will be the leader for the evening and has arranged for a good program on the subject of "Taxation."

WILL TEST OIL SAMPLES BEFORE LETTING CONTRACT

By the first of the coming week samples for road oil submitted by the companies will be tested by City Engineer Kerch, before contract for one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five thousand gallons of oil will be contracted for by the city.

Petitions from residents on several streets have been received for the oiling of the streets and more are expected within two weeks' time. Heavy oil will be used this year.

MASONIC SYMBOLS ON EGYPTIAN RUINS

George S. Parker Writes Interesting Letter of Visit to Wonderful Nile Country.

George S. Parker, who with his wife and daughter, and son Kenneth, are traveling in Egypt, writes a most interesting letter from Cairo of his recent visit to the ruins of the ancient city of Luxor and the discovery of Masonic emblems on the walls of the temples and palaces built thousands of years ago. The letter is dated March 31st, last, and in part is as follows:

Cairo, March 31, 1914.
Here we are fighting flies and the most persistent I ever saw. The winter is warm and fine. We have been spending a few days at Luxor, some four hundred miles south of Cairo. Its chief industry is ruins. In fact that is about all the town is noted for, and such ruins we never before imagined were in existence. There are constantly excavating and finding new remains. How the old boys of 2,000 B. C. could perform the engineering feats necessary to cut quarry and remove such enormous blocks of stone, weighing many tons, transport them hundreds of miles, then make it into temples, court palaces, tombs, etc., and have it as fit and fine as a modern day mason would lay brick is beyond comprehension. Nearly all the walls of the ancient relics are covered with inscriptions, beautifully carved, deep in the rock. In some instances there are paintings put on with colors that seem to defy time and would be worth a fortune to any painter here today, if they could discover the secret.

Do you know one of the remarkable things among the inscriptions are Masonic Symbols and these between 3,000 and 4,000 years old. I had for a guide a native eighteen-degree Mason, who took me aside and showed me the symbols and was very proud of the ancient origin of his order. I might also say that to be a Mason in this country means the open door to the fortunate brother. Yesterday we met Mrs. Lovejoy, Miss Lovejoy and Miss Goodwin of Beloit, just before we left Luxor. They had just finished the Nile trip. They all looked fine and with a fine coat of summer tan. We are all well and enjoy every minute. Tomorrow we start on a several days' journey on the desert on camels and camp out on the "still desert."

Regards to all the friends.

CAN DELIVER FLIES SATURDAY MORNING

The campaign against flies is to be more active this year than ever before. The Junior Civic League is already offering ten cents a hundred for dead flies brought to the children's room of the library by the younger school children during April. Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock Professor Gillian of the state university extension force will give a moving picture exhibition of the various phases of a fly's life and activities at the high school, which will be free to all. The Junior Civic League has charge of the exhibition, and if children bring swatted flies to the school tomorrow they will be received there as well as at the library.

THREE BELOIT MEN ARE PAROLED OUT FOR TERMS

George and William Bennett, brothers, were this morning paroled out by Sheriff C. S. Whipple to serve sentences given to them by Judge Clark in the Beloit municipal court yesterday afternoon on the plea of guilty to the charges of drunkenness. George was given ten days while William must have imbibed a little more, for he had a fifteen day sentence to work out.

Ralph Wescott was sentenced to serve ninety days under the commitment law for petty larceny, having been found guilty of stealing an overcoat. District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie prosecuted the case.

FAIR COMEDY GIVEN BY MARION WOODS CO.

"The Prince of Liars" kept a large audience in a continuous roar of laughter at the Myers theatre last evening. It was one of the best and funniest farce comedies ever presented here by a stock company. Mr. Woods has shown excellent taste in his selection of plays, and the Marion-Woods company are fast winning their way into the hearts of the Janesville theatre goers. "Diane's Attonement" is announced for tonight, and all who saw it played Tuesday night, will recommend it highly. The usual vaudeville numbers, and motion pictures will be given in addition to the regular play.

MATRIMONIAL.

Riesterer-Wellnitz.
John Wellnitz and Miss Dorothy Riesterer were united in marriage at nine o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary's church, the Rev. W. A. Goebel officiating. The bride wore a gown of white voile and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Miss Mary Fullerton, cousin of the bride, and John Garske, cousin of the groom, were the attendants. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's father, Martin Wellnitz. Mr. and Mrs. Wellnitz will make their home in the town of La Prairie.

NATURAL CURIOSITY.

Prisoner—Your honor, I should like to have my case postponed. My lawyer is sick.
Judge—But you were caught with your hand in the gentlemen's pocket. What can your counsel say in your defense?
Prisoner—That's just what I am curious to know.

INVESTIGATED THE OILING SITUATION

Commissioner-Elect Peter J. Goodman Returns from Chicago Where He Looked into the Latest Method of Oiling Streets.

City Commissioner-elect Peter J. Goodman has returned from a visit in Chicago of several days' duration, and while there spent some time in the chief engineer's office of the South Park Commission making an investigation of the methods of oiling the miles of boulevards, asphalt macadam, plain macadam and even the dirt roads, that came within the jurisdiction of this special commission. He found that last season the engineering department were confronted by the same problem with their oiling as was found in Janesville, but that after experimenting they had secured a light grade of oil, no more expensive and handled much easier, that gave even better service. The headquarters of this commission is on the south side, and their laboratory tests of sixty various grades of oil were taken before a substance suitable for their purposes was decided on.

Mr. Goodman said: "I was interested in the question of oiling the streets owing to the numerous complaints I had heard of the work last year, so visited this office. I was shown every courtesy possible, the tests of the various oils explained to me and the results obtained by their use demonstrated. I found that the oil they are using now is a thinner oil than we had last year. It does not have to be heated and spreads on just as though sprinkled. It takes about ten days to two weeks to harden thoroughly and twice over in one season is sufficient to insure excellent streets at no more expense than the once over of the heavier oil. It can be put on at any time, but of course dries quicker in warmer weather. It is not so dirty to handle and the cost is the same, but does not entail so much expense to handle after used. It can be used on dirt roads, macadam roads, asphalt roads, brick or block paving or asphalt macadam streets."

PIANO CONSTRUCTION

There is known by expert Piano makers a certain system in piano construction to produce the desired quality of tone that we call artistic. Drawing of the scale is the first essential step to take, you may use the best material and not have a good piano, as to artistic tone, although it is very important to have the best material and to know how to use them, to produce the desired results. Some Piano Dealers will harp on some certain new thing in piano construction and use it as a talking point, when it does not amount to the snap of your finger, as to adding anything better, and most times fails to produce as good as the old reliable system used in all artistic Pianos.

Call and see my line of pianos before you decide on any particular name. I always keep the best.

LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE OUTCOME OF FIGHT OF RITCHIE-MURPHY

Champion Meets Harlem Tommy Murphy for Lightweight Title in Twenty Round Fight.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
San Francisco, April 17.—The lightweight championship of the world is at stake in the twenty round fight between Willie Ritchie and Harlem Tommy Murphy here today. For years Murphy has been camping on the trail of champions endeavoring to meet one of the lightest men in the world, but something always held him off. Today the ambition of his life will be fulfilled and he will become the champion or will pass into the ranks of the has-beens. Ritchie is picked to win over Murphy.

The Harlem fighter is by no means a youth. He has been among the near-champions for years and his defeat today will mean the passing of Murphy from the ranks of recognized first class fighters. A willing man and a hard fighter, Tommy has long been a championship possibility, but after his years of waiting if he fails to connect today, it will mean that he is through. In Ritchie, Murphy will meet one of the best fighters in the world, and possessing a knockout punch, Ritchie has shown himself to be a great fighting machine. His fight with Murphy has been postponed several times, but Willie's trainers declared he was in the best condition of his career and would certainly dispose of the challenger. Murphy started active training some time before the champion. He has found that he must take more time in rounding out than formerly, but declared himself fit for the fight of his life.

FEDERALS TROUNCED BY INDEPENDENTS IN MATCH

When the two outlaw teams went to the mat at Miller's last night in the city bowling tournament, the Federals received a lacing in a comedy match, losing by 42 points. Richards, captain of the Federals, attempted to slide home with the game in the last frame but was spilled with a score of 98, and spiked by the foul man attempting to run off with some of the pictures on the wall.

Both teams played grandstand ball and failed to roll up scores that will land them in the prize money. Song bird of the winners was high man with 191 made in the first game. Tonight Cook's Americans meet Merck's Semi-pros.

The ocean-racer launched today is the Resolute, the Herreshoff's entry. It was the first of the American Defenders to take the water. The ceremonies today were elaborate.

JAMESTOWN RACES CLOSE WITH FAREWELL EVENTS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Norfolk, Va., April 17.—The spring meet of the Jamestown Jockey Club closed here this afternoon with a special card of "farewell" events. Many horsemen expressed the belief that this might be the last meeting on the splendid little track near the old exhibition grounds. There is an anti-betting law in force in Virginia.

Test cases have been brought at every meet for the last few years, but nearly always they have been thrown out of court on technical grounds. A fast case matter, especially after the opening here was expected by many horsemen to be decided otherwise. There were only fifteen days in the present meet. Most of the stables here are going to Havre de Grace.

SONS OF REVOLUTION MEET ON A WHARF

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, April 17.—Because its constitution calls for holding the annual meeting in this city, the General Society, Sons of the Revolution met here today on a wharf. The sons, however, did not tarry long. Instead they boarded a Potomac river boat en route to Yorktown and other points of historic interest in Virginia.

Sport Snap Shots

If this has always been a custom, we marvel that the vice president's job has not been more eagerly sought. Vice President Marshall is a bit of a bug and most of the club owners know it. The Giants have slipped him a lovely silver, beautifully engraved pass, admitting himself and all his friends. Other magnates fall in with the idea and wherever the V. P. may be in the baseball season he gets a warm and gratis welcome at the park.

Ty Cobb has been working like a regular bear on his training trip this spring. Many a report has come from the south telling of the wonderful speed and hitting that Ty has shown. And the reason for all of this is quite evident. Ty is determined that the coming season shall be the most glorious one he has ever had in the game. He is going to convince each and all that he is the world's greatest pitcher. Last year Joe Jackson, Frank Baker, Eddie Collins and Tris Speaker made Ty Huckle a bit and the report came forth that in the opinion of many well-informed Eddie Collins was the greatest player ever. All of which made Cobb desperately irate. He is going to be the one real thing or nothing at all. In years before these things didn't bother Cobb so much and it was seldom that he paid much heed to the training trip. This year, however, it's different. And next summer we shall look to Ty to see what we shall see.

Willie Mitchell, the Nap twirler, tells a story that would make it seem that Willie holds the world's strike-out record. "How's your arm," asked a friend several days ago, and Willie replied, "Very well, indeed. Almost as well as when I pitched that game for Rosedale." In the game he pitched for Rosedale many years ago he struck out twenty-six men and the other one fouled to the catcher. And Mitchell says he can prove it by wiring to ex-Governor Pennell of Arkansas, who umpired the game.

The Giants on their trip north from training quarters did indeed make a wonderful record, gathering a list of victories that made all the opposition shiver. The Giants played mostly second-rate bush league teams and in this way they were able to win almost every game. If they are able to keep up this glorious clip and if Muggsy McGraw is able to refrain from engaging other managers larger than himself in fist-cuffs then they should have a pleasant season. Of course some of the National League teams can put up a better article of ball than most of the teams the Giants beat on their way home, but just the same it is thought that the Giants are going to have a great season.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Weather will be unsettled tonight and Saturday. Probably showers. Warmer tonight. Cooler Saturday. Increasing easterly winds tonight shifting to westerly Saturday.

PARTISAN POLITICS.

The days of partisan politics, either national or state, have passed. This is particularly true in Wisconsin where the primary law is in effect, and whether they wish it or not, the candidate is forced down the maw of the unsuspecting public simply because he played better politics than his opponents. The main support of the old-time politician was the newspaper. With politics placed upon a purely commercial basis, with issues defined by a few men, without consulting the masses, the interest of the newspaper has waned from the partisan politics and centered on the dollars and cents the advertising brings. Not that this is meant that the editorial columns are in any way purchasable, but the old-time interest in an especial candidate that lasted up to the time of the district, county, the congressional or state convention is gone. It is now merely a matter of personal opinion. The state has gone into the matter of advertising candidates, at so much per ad, and the newspapers are shut off from this revenue. Why should they shout for some candidate merely because he is named the candidate of the first or second choice voters of the county, who may really be in the minority when the total vote is counted, and directly opposed to the policy of the newspaper in question, but still wears the cognomen of the party they are supposed to represent?

There is considerable talk about a republican convention this coming summer. A convention to perfect a republican organization and all that twaddle. There is also talk of a democratic state gathering to cement the democrats of the state together into one compact body. Both ideas are ridiculous. Any newspaper that aids in the crystallization of the idea of either party gathering is really not to be regarded as genuinely looking after its own interests. The voters of the state have told the newspapers to keep out of politics. The politicians have voted that they keep out of politics except at so much per line advertising rate, and sometimes the papers had sued to obtain a settlement at this rate, even though they should batter their heads against a stone wall to please a few politicians who have nothing to lose and everything to gain and are not willing to expend a cent to further their own interests?

The day of partisan politics is past. The day when the staunch republican or democratic daily could see nothing wrong in the administration is one of the memories of the dim campaign days when the torchlight parade existed, when spell-binder talked in "wigwams." When marching clubs visited adjacent cities and the "wamp vote" could be swayed by the most noise. Politics has been put on a commercial basis and the days, not so far past, when the cry of stalwart or half-breed, fair-minded democrat or "God's patient poor," goaded men to action, is lost in the great realms of memory. Wisconsin wants to fight out the present political issue on a non-partisan basis only. It is to meet local tax conditions and must do so without the infusion of national politics. If success is to come to the cause of the people it must be by non-partisan candidates. If success is to perch on the banners of the common people, the taxpayers, it must be by individual efforts, regardless of party affiliations or creed.

THE NEW YORK WORLD.

Caustic in the extreme is the New York World over the recent order of Secretary of the Navy Daniels over the prohibition of liquor at the officers' mess of the navy. One would hardly expect the World to take the Wilson administration to task as strenuously as they have, but they are going after them hammer and tongs and it does not speak well for the next national campaign. Under the caption of "Daniels Come to Judgment," the World said on April 8th, last:

"Secretary Daniels said today that he was opposed to drinking in any form, and that it was his duty as he saw it to stop drinking in the navy." Press Despatch.

"When I was a boy my father pointed out to me a man who got rich minding his own business. I have always tried to follow his example." Secretary of War Garrison.

These two questions mark the distinction between two types of cabinet officers, which, in varying proportions and degrees, have blessed and plagued all our presidents. In President Wilson's cabinet, what with chautauqua shockers, South American diplomatic malaproposities, government ownership vagaries and the like, these two types are apparently tending toward so close a balance that time alone may determine whether the ability of some of the president's aids will continue to offset the officiousness of the others.

"In the meantime we cannot too emphatically repeat that Secretary Daniels' latest order is an outrage on every democratic tradition and principle of personal liberty."

"If Mr. Daniels is permitted to impose his anti-alcoholic idiosyncrasies on the officers in his power, why should reform stop there? Medical officers can be found to report that smoking is unhealthy. Thus the next secretary of the navy who may chew but does not smoke, will have a perfect precedent for forbidding smoking in the navy. After him a vegetarian secretary may, on readily procurable medical advice, put his bureaucratic ban on meat; while a eugenist secretary could with equal logic and propriety regulate the matrimonial programs of his sea-slaves."

"This use of military discipline as a cloak for sumptuary despotism is so intolerable that Secretary Daniels should be allowed to lose no time in sobering up after his temperance debauch."

THE APOLOGY.

Now that Huerta has agreed to apologize by firing a salute to the stars and stripes for the insult heaped upon it by the arrest of an officer of the navy in pursuit of his duty, there are some men in congress who want the United States to return the salute by wasting a lot of powder firing a return volley, just to show the United States is all right. If they load those powder charges with shot and shell and send them into the Mexican strongholds, all right, but not otherwise. Uncle Sam does not owe anything to Mexico. Mexico owes everything to Uncle Sam. If Mexico apologizes in due form all well and good, but not one jot or tittle should the United States recognize the republic beyond the Rio Grande except with stern features that betoken the word of warning in such plain language that the world can read it: "Behave!"

Do not forget that in all the excitement of counting the holidays during the coming summer that the Janesville fair is going to be in existence during August, and it is going to be "some fair," according to the plans already mapped out.

Rock county boys have another corn contest on for their consideration this coming summer. It is well worth considering the prizes offered, so that once more the county can boast of banner crops this coming fall.

This idea of swatting the fly should be promoted in every way possible. While some object to the children banding the dead vermin, a dead fly means a few million less next summer.

When it comes to cleaning up Janesville everyone should take a hand, and when once clean, see to it that the city is kept clean.

With all the "fans" in Janesville this city should have a first-class semi-professional baseball team. Why not consider it?

NO CHANGE IN OFFICERS OF BOARD OF CONTROL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 17.—At the meeting of the state board of control last evening the following officers were re-elected:

Katherine R. Williams, Milwaukee, Recording Secretary.
Dr. P. H. Lindley, Chippewa Falls, Vice-president.

N. J. Tappins, Madison, Secretary.
The election of Mr. Tappins yesterday made the seventeenth time that he has been annually elected to the position. Before holding this position he was clerk of the court of Iowa county. Gov. McBurney re-appointed Ralph E. Smith of Merrill last week as president of the board.

HAVE SIX CALLS IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Answers Three Calls Today, Two for Grass Fires, and Roof Catches Fire at 1421 Mole Ave.

At a quarter to one today the fire department responded to an alarm from box 131, and through the speed of the "Red Streak" of Fire Chief averted a possible serious fire was averted at the Power-homestead at 1421 Mole avenue. Sparks from the chimney had set fire to the roof and the flames were eating their way into the attic when Chief Klein arrived and extinguished the blaze before the horse wagons arrived. The fire truck was a close second to the box leaving the wagons in the rear in a merry race up Washington street. Only nominal damage was suffered.

At half past ten in the morning the department was called out on Carington street, where a grass fire was spreading in a vacant lot near the river-view park. The broom brigade were used on posts and fences that were in the path of the fire. Last night between eight and nine o'clock the broom brigade had another siege fighting a grass fire near the cannery factory in Springbrook.

At three-fifteen this afternoon the department had a still alarm call to the corner of North Jackson and West Bluff streets where their fifth alarm was called out. The blaze from spreading, making a total of six fires within twenty-four hours. The fire ladders have had to be on the jump during the last two days and are being accustomed to hear the alarms while the sight of seeing the big fire truck speeding up the main streets is becoming a familiar one.

CLEAN-UP DAY WORK HAS ALREADY BEGUN

Interest in Proposed Plan to Make Janesville a Spotless City

Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, promise to be lively days for Janesville if the plans for the clean up of the whole city continue to increase the interest already displayed. The Commercial club, the Janesville Civic League, and the Junior League, all the churches and the schools are supporting the Clean-Up Days movement with enthusiasm, and Janesville should be a healthier and a better looking city this summer.

Cards will be sold to all who wish them at twenty-five cents each which will entitle the holder to have one load of rubbish (not ashes) hauled away on Clean-Up days if placed near the curb (not in the gutter), where a wagon can get to it.

May first is also Arbor Day, and a holiday in the public schools, and Superintendent Buell will have printed slips distributed to the school children which they will return signed, telling what work each has done toward cleaning up that day.

RETAIL MARKET.
Better vegetables are coming to the Janesville markets daily and the housewife has a host of fine fresh delicacies for the table. Tomatoes are coming in in large quantities and are selling from ten to fifteen cents per pound. Fresh dug parsnips are offered at three cents per pound and are of a fine quality. Asparagus is meeting with a large sale and is selling at ten cents per bunch and the stalks are tender and well choice.
Eggs still hold at eighteen cents at most of the dealers, but it is expected they will drop with the announcement of the present weather. This morning the fish met with a ready sale, the opening of the lakes has given the fish tribes chance to forsake the deeper waters and obtain better food in the shoals, and as a result more and better quality fish was on the market.
Janesville, Wis., April 17, 1914.
Butter—Creamery, 30¢; dairy 27¢@28¢.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE
EARLY THIS MORNING

Mrs. Caspen Bassell, Lies in Critical Condition at Home Near Edgerton.—Was Frightened.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, April 17.—Mrs. Caspen Bassell, residing about one and a half miles east of Edgerton, near the St. Paul railroad tracks, lies in a critical condition as the result of taking dose of bed bug poison, containing corrosive sublimate, early this morning.
Mrs. Bassell had been much excited for the past few days over losing a valuable ring, which she claimed was stolen by a paper-hanger, whom she had engaged to re-paper her home. She accused the man, employed by the St. Paul railroad, of having threatened to prosecute her of accusation, after denying the charges brought against him. After pondering over the threat until this morning, Mrs. Bassell took the poison, which may result in her death.
The remains of F. M. Mohrt, who died early yesterday morning at a hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, where he had been taken Sunday evening for treatment, were brought here this morning on the early train.
The funeral will be held from the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia, although he has been suffering with liver and stomach trouble for several years.

Amusements

She was a petite little girl. Blessed with many a golden curl. Her blue eyes caused many a fellow to fall. For them she had but scorn. This fair maid forlorn. who bathed in the open. On "September Morn".
At last we have it—"September Morn" in musical comedy form. We have seen the form in picture shape, but now it is the real thing with pretty girls who compose one of the best singing and dancing ensemble. The Tangles are seen along with the famous Hesitation waltzes and other clever terpsichorean evolutions. Fun runs rampant from the first curtain and entrance of the splendid fun-making Dave Lewis, who has the part of his life, and is ably assisted by forty representatives comedy purveyors. "September Morn" is Howard & Clifford's biggest production, and this firm of theatrical promoters have fairly outdone themselves in casting and mounting this popular topical merry affair.
Minerva Coverdale, chic and charming, imbues "September Morn" with an airy freshness that carries it out of the realm of burlesque. Clever Frances Kennedy is also a member of the company along with the other favorites who were recent stars in the various happy parts in "September Morn" at LaSalle Opera house, Chicago.
Light From Stars.
The light we receive from stars of the first magnitude, like Vega, is equal approximately to a forty-thousand-millionth part of that of the sun. It is calculated that the total light received from the lesser stars is equal to that of 3,000 stars of the first magnitude, or a sixth part of that which is sent to us from the moon.

WOULD TEACH MINING IN ILLINOIS SCHOOLS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Champaign, Ill., April 17.—An extreme measure of industrial education was advocated by Captain John B. Walker, president of the Illinois federation of labor, in an address before the mining engineers of Illinois here today.
Walker advocates not only an extension of the mining classes, but embraces all the probability that mining conservation by proposing that mining be taught in the public schools in sections where mining is the chief industry.
"I do not think this would be too much to make mining the occupation

day. Walker advocates not only an extension of the mining classes, but embraces all the probability that mining conservation by proposing that mining be taught in the public schools in sections where mining is the chief industry.
"I do not think this would be too much to make mining the occupation for the children in this immediate district," said Walker. "Then the miners would not only know how to protect themselves from danger below the ground, but would have a start on gaining the skill to earn their living."

Style, Fit, Quality, Price
What's the Determining Factor in Your Clothes Buying?

Style is important, it is or should be a true reflection of your character.
Fit is vital, if perfect it insures a proper personal appearance.
Quality should be considered from but one level—100% if it's less Style and Fit will avail nothing.
Price rests largely with the size of your income yet no one in justice to their best interests should pay too much for their clothes.

In our estimation Kuppenheimer clothes are supreme in Style and Fit. Their quality throughout is uniformly superior and under our better clothes selling methods you are assured of greater value in these clothes at any of our prices than it is possible for you to secure elsewhere.

$18, $20, $22.50, $25, $27.50, $30
Not more than you should pay but as little as such good clothes can be sold for.

WISCONSIN SUCCEEDS AS Y. M. C. A. CENTER

Badger Territory Leads Over Many States in State County Work, Is Opinion at Session.

Taking as a basis the rate in which the states of the Union are commencing the rural county Y. M. C. A. work, the state of Wisconsin, with only four counties at work on the movement, are making the greatest strides, leading the majority of the states by a big margin. The opinion was reached, after all reports were read by the state secretaries of the state, at the state county work-committee meeting held at the Park Hotel, Madison, Wednesday afternoon. A careful summing up of the accomplishments in other states was reached before the decision was reached. A. E. Roberts, international county work secretary, of New York City, quite agreed with the committee present, and he added a good word on top of what they had previously said. Mr. Roberts' address on the co-operative relationship of the county Y. M. C. A. with the city institutions of a like nature formed the subject of his remarkable talk. He distinctly showed how this relationship had been carried even into the furthest extremities of Europe, into the remote point of civilization, where the work is going on.

The meeting was called to order at four o'clock. There were twenty-eight present at the session, four of which number representing Rock county. They were L. A. Markham and A. E. Robinson of this city, and H. A. Moehrlan and Solon Cooper of Clinton. A delicious dinner was served following the meeting.

More counties in Wisconsin will be organized, if possible, within the near future. The work is proving so successful throughout the country today

MEET TO CONSIDER NEW BUILDING CODE

Members of Builders' Exchange and Commercial Club Committee Hold Joint Conference

Members of the builders' exchange and the committee of the Commercial Club named to look into the new building code promulgated by the state industrial commission, will hold a joint conference at the exchange rooms in the Carle block tonight. The regulations as laid down by the commission will be gone over carefully with reference to the problems of local conditions.

Janesville contractors recognize the need of some sort of supervision of building work in this city, but the new code is said to be entirely too rigorous. "There are too many buildings being erected or altered in this city without adequate plans and specifications, and without any sort of inspection," said a local contractor today. "We would welcome some sort of an inspection system as a safeguard to property."

The question of liability insurance for the building trades will also be brought up at the meeting. According to a device from the state insurance department the local exchange can form its own insurance company if it so desires. The matter will be looked into by members of the exchange.

TWO TRAMPS CAUGHT FOR STEALING WIRE

Officer Morrissey Apprehends Two Strangers for Stealing Copper Wire From Interurban

Two strangers, giving their names as Fred Miller of Genoa Junction, Wisconsin, and James Carr of New York City, were arrested this morning by Officer Thomas Morrissey for stealing copper cable wire from the interurban tracks a few miles south of Janesville where men have been putting in signal blocks.

Interurban employees on the work car reported the theft to the police and Morrissey accompanied them back and found the two men walking the Northwestern tracks toward Beloit. They were taken to York's Park and transferred to the Janesville car. At the Main street crossing Miller, who is the largest of the two men, jerked loose from the officer's grasp and after dropping the bag in which they had hid the copper cables, started to run across the street. The conductor of the car attempted to aid, Patrolman Morrissey and Miller struck him with his fist, but was caught before he could gain the sidewalk. Both were looked up and were brought before Judge Maxfield this afternoon.

TO DISCUSS RELATION OF UNIVERSITY AND STATE AT NEW YORK CONFERENCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 17.—What should be the relation of the university to the state? This problem and other subjects related to the public service activities of universities will be discussed by national leaders in the field of public service, university education and public opinion at a conference on universities and public service called by Mayor John Purroy Mitchell of New York City. The conference will be held in New York on May 12 and 13. The arrangements are in charge of the committee on practical training for public service of the American Political Science Association.

The members of the committee are Charles McCarthy, chairman, Madison, Wisconsin; Albert Bushnell Hart, Harvard University; Benjamin F. Shambaugh, University of Iowa; William F. Willoughby, Princeton University; and Raymond G. Gettell, Trinity College.

THE APOLLO.

For the second time the Six Cecilia Mads scored a big success at the Apollo last night. Among the six charming young ladies who appeared here last season only one change was noticed, that being the pianist and soloist. The others were the same and pleased their audience in the same delightful way that they did before. Musical offerings of unusual merit, personal beauty, and charming manner, together with tasteful, stylish gowns, combine to make them irresistible.

La Adelia of Fields and La Adelia gave a very clever bit of toe dancing last night that was out of the ordinary. Her gracefulness was refreshing. Her partner, Fields, played the part of a Hebrew comedian with much originality. John McMcGinn has rather an ordinary song and dance number which he makes the most of.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Religion is not an extra, something added which could just as well as not, and perhaps better, be gotten along without. Religion is not simply some exercise, some form of belief which relates men to God. Religion has to do with all of life, both here and hereafter. The "here" is related to the "hereafter" as seed time to harvest.

The services of this church are planned to help men and women take care of the seed time. Sunday morning service at 10:30. Subject: "Keeping Life Right." Sunday school at 11:45 a. m. Sunday evening service at seven o'clock. Special music at all of the services. Good congregational singing. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Jesus the Teacher and Healer

By REV. WILLIAM EVANS, D.D.
Director of Bible Course
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Mark 1:29-45.

Some one has said that in this lesson we spend a Sabbath with Jesus. We go with him to church, listen to his preaching, watch him when interrupted by a maniac, cast out the evil spirit, and then make the cure a powerful aid to preaching. After the service, we accompany him to Peter's house, and see him cure Peter's aged mother of a fever, and there spend the afternoon in quiet and rest. Towards sunset we see the people of the village bringing to him a great number of sick folk on whom he lays his hands and heals.

The word and teaching of Jesus, not conscience, is the ultimate rule of life, the final arbiter in the questions of the soul. While we recognize that the conscience is the vicegerent of God in the soul, the religious instinct in man, yet we must admit that it is a faculty that can be warped, drugged, misgoverned and silenced. Therefore, it cannot be depended upon as an absolutely correct criterion of truth and conduct.

A man may say that he needs no other revelation than his own reason, or that he will accept nothing in the Bible saying what accords with his reason, thereby making his reason, and not the revelation of God, the criterion of right and wrong. Inasmuch, however, as different men have different "reasons" for doing, believing and judging things, we become at once involved in a maze of conflicting standards of truth and are left hopelessly in the dark. Reason, therefore, cannot be the ultimate authority in matters of faith and practice.

When Jesus Christ has spoken, there is nothing more to be said. When Christ has passed his judgment, there is no appeal from it. His words are final and authoritative. Jesus said: "He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him; the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day." Thus we see that the word of God is not only to be the standard of our conduct here and now, but the standard by which we shall be judged hereafter.

Miracles were not the principal part of Christ's work. They were always subordinate. More than once Christ expressed the fear that men might be tempted to make miracles the most prominent part of his work, and thus advertise him as a healer of men's bodies rather than the savior of their souls. That was the reason why again he forbade those whom he had healed to advertise the healing.

Jesus wrought miracles merely to prove to the people that he was the Messiah. Indeed, the challenge to cast himself down from the pinnacle of the temple was a temptation of the devil to make Christ miraculously prove to the waiting people in the courts below that he was the Messiah. This he resolutely refused to do. Nor were his miracles performed for the mere purpose of persuading men. They were tokens of Christ's willingness to relieve the distresses of men. In so far as Jesus was able to help and relieve he felt himself called upon so to do.

Christ's mission is ours, likewise. As he was sent into the world by the father, so are we sent by the son. Our fellows are bowed down with spiritual ailments far more serious than the physical diseases of Christ's day. The soul has its diseases just as well as the body. The spiritually blind, the moral leper, the man dead to the things of God, all these need the healing touch of the Christ. It is the duty of the church to see to it that people thus afflicted are brought into contact with the great physician.

Demoniacal possession was common in the day of Christ. Whether it is still in existence, whether or no men are still possessed of demons, may be an open question. Returned missionaries from China, India, and other foreign countries are very emphatic in the declaration of their belief in demon possession today. Possibly some forms of insanity may be attributed to this source. It may be said that there is nothing contrary to our present knowledge in the statement that evil spirits may and sometimes do gain control over man, and to a greater or lesser extent govern their actions. "There is no certainty that such cases do not occur at the present time, and there is much to suggest that active agents of evil do beset the human spirit," and this is the most reasonable way of interpreting the "tragedies of human sin" and the "unexplained remainders" of human life. Modern science is not in a position to deny the existence today of demoniacal possession. Ill-temper, vice, lust, lasciviousness, drunkenness—these, wherever found, are indications, to say the least, that Satan is in control.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength from the Badger Drug Co., and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, April 17, 1874. Messrs. Wilcox and Cole yesterday completed the new bridge at the lower end of Main street, over what is known as Springbrook. The bridge committee made an inspection of the work during the afternoon, accepted the same, and the bridge is now ready for public use.

No more worthy object can be patronized in Janesville at the present time than the grand concert to be given on Monday night, April 20th, at the opera house by the orchestra of the school for the blind, for their own benefit.

The Rock County House, near the depot, is being repaired prior to being reopened for the accommodation of the public.

Lewis Trumble of No. 2 Hose Company had his ribs severely bruised by coming in contact with the hose cart while on the way to the institute fire.

Turner Hall of Monroe was crowded last night to listen to a temperance lecture by Rev. Jenkins L. Jones of our city.

The new hotel which is being erected near the passenger depot by Mr. Connors has been sold to John Spence, late of the Rock County House.

About seventy students are now attending the Telegraph Institute of Valentine Brothers.

The spring term of the public schools begins on Monday next.

The board of school commissioners will hold a meeting this evening.

Rev. Lugg has been out in Walworth county duck hunting. He captured five or six and shot several that got away from him.

The Doty Manufacturing Company are having quite a run on their seeders this spring.

Imagination to Be Controlled.

Imagination is a great faculty if properly controlled. Uncontrolled, let loose to run its course untrammelled, breeding its kindred passions of prejudice, fear, hate, malice, it becomes a menace, haunting us with its fantasies and fallacies, unfitting us for high purpose. Yet it dwells latent, or potent in every human breast; master or servant, according to the strength or weakness of the will.

"TIZ" FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET

"TIZ" for tender, puffed-up, sweaty, calloused feet and corns.

People who are forced to stand on their feet all day know what sore, tender, sweaty, burning feet mean. They use "TIZ" and "TIZ" cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. "TIZ" is the only remedy in the world that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet and cause tender, sore, tired, aching feet. It instantly stops the pain in corns, callouses and bunions. It's simply glorious. A bit now comfort, a bit now relief. After using "TIZ," you'll never limp, or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't tighten and hurt your feet.

Get a 25-cent box of "TIZ" now from any drugist, department or general store. Just think! A whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.

THE COST OF DISCIPLESHIP.

(The Story.)

Jesus' journey took the nature of a triumph. Incredible multitudes were attracted by his miracles. Curiosity waxed. His name was on every lip. The motives of his followers were naturally mixed. There was a curiosity which itched, like that of Athens, to hear some new thing. Then there was always the sordid element, which was eyes only for the loaves and fishes. There were ambitious spirits, too, who hoped to mount to power in the new kingdom. There were those who had a private grudge against some Roman or publican, which they hoped to satisfy when the yoke was broken. There were patriots, who believed Israel's deliverance at hand. This motley crowd must be shaken in a wide-meshed sieve, in order that those who bulk large in sincerity may be screened out. The words of Jesus in this instance make such a sieve against the phylloxera. "Whoever is afraid, let him return." Through that wide-meshed sieve 22,000 fell at one oscillation. The next test was the passing of the brook. Those only who were so eager for the fray as not to stop to drink, but caught up the water in their hands, were permitted to continue. By that token Gideon lost 17,000 more! But the three hundred immortal men, tried and true, sufficed to win one of the world's decisive victories. The next analogue is of modern times. It was when Garibaldi said to his "Red Shirts," "I have nothing for you except fatigue, danger, death, chill of night, and heat of day. No munitions, or provisions, only forced marches, and struggle of bayonet against bayonet. Let only those who love Freedom follow!"

solemn refrain falls the last words of Jesus, "He whose ears are capable of receiving comprehendingly the truth enunciated, he only really hears it!" There are two suggestive analogies to this sifting of his followers by the Master. The first is in the oldest annals of the Hebrews, when Gideon said to the host he was leading against the Midianites, "Whoever is afraid, let him return." Through that wide-meshed sieve 22,000 fell at one oscillation. The next test was the passing of the brook. Those only who were so eager for the fray as not to stop to drink, but caught up the water in their hands, were permitted to continue. By that token Gideon lost 17,000 more! But the three hundred immortal men, tried and true, sufficed to win one of the world's decisive victories. The next analogue is of modern times. It was when Garibaldi said to his "Red Shirts," "I have nothing for you except fatigue, danger, death, chill of night, and heat of day. No munitions, or provisions, only forced marches, and struggle of bayonet against bayonet. Let only those who love Freedom follow!"

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.

It is affection which incites Jesus to paint the picture of discipleship in most somber colors possible. He picks those who follow him in inconsistency, knowing how bitterly they will be disappointed. Again, those who are not daunted by words so appalling are doubly tried, and so, doubly true. Then, too, Jesus feels his bounden duty to conserve the cause he has inaugurated. For this reason he puts the price of discipleship at the highest notch. His kingdom is safer in the hands of a small company of thoroughly-tested disciples than in a host of superficial, half-baked followers. Jesus may have had in mind the Tower of Babel, the most gigantic, ill-considered building enterprise of man, whose very name means confusion, a synonym of failure. These rigorous words are just as applicable to the continuance and completion as to the beginning of discipleship. Two signs mark the true disciple. He does not begin until all is weighed. He does not cease until all is accomplished. It has been aptly said that it is easier to throw away the life than to live it Christianly. A good end is as impossible as a good beginning, without calculation and renewed exertion. The world's laugh at religion is no wonder when it is remembered there is so much half-Christianity professing itself to be complete. Half-religion warrants the jest. The inference is not to be drawn that, if the resources are found sufficient, no attempt is to be made. The contrary is true! This tower must be built! This war must be waged! Divine grace can be depended upon to supplement human insufficiency. There is fascination in a large demand. Sometimes it outweights many concessions. Better never begin than half-end. Numbers, but quality. Hypocritical Christians are spoilt salt, of no use, even on a dunghill. It is not all subtraction, this becoming a disciple. It is addition also. The promise is, "Seek first, and all else shall be added." None is a real loser. All are incalculable gainers. Jesus does not throttle human love when he says, "Hate father!" Here is no charter for asceticism. He too often adorned and beautified the home with his presence to debase its abolition now. The expression is hyperbole. It is the designation of an extremely improbable sacrifice, as indication that whatever is really vital to discipleship must be forfeited.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEVOTIONAL SERVICE.

April 19, 1914. Ecclesiastes 3: 1-8. CONSECRATION OF TIME (SAB-BATH-OBSERVANCE MEETING). Time is the very stuff out of which life is made. It is of inestimable value. When God wanted to build a monument which would remind man of Himself as his maker, he built it out of time. He pre-empted one-seventh in token that all is his.

MAKE RATE CHANGES ON WESTERN ROADS

Radical Changes on All Western Railroads on Passenger Rates Effective May First.

Railroads, not only in Wisconsin, but generally throughout the west, have adopted the straight mileage tariff which will become effective on May first. The change resulted in the failure of the roads to be graded a five per cent increase in freight rates, and the new rates conform to the state laws, of charging two cents for every mile traveled.

Before, where one road's mileage was longer than a competing line in reaching certain points, the road with the longest mileage competed with passenger rate to the point in order to get a per cent of the traffic, despite the longer mileage. After May first, the short mileage system will be done away with and passengers will find that they will have to pay two cents for every mile of travel. An example of the new rates is that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul line in Janesville has been competing with the Chicago and Northwestern line in rates to Rockford, Ill. The St. Paul routing their trains through Milwaukee, charging the same rate as the Northwestern over the direct line. Before the rate on the St. Paul was $1.75, but the St. Paul will now charge $2.70 for the Milwaukee route. On the Mineral Point line, the Northwestern has been competing with the St. Paul to Plattville, Wis., for their shortest line. There will be a few changes in local rates as on the St. Paul the Milwaukee rate will be two cents more, and Plattville charges four cents. Rates to Chicago remain the same. The ticket agents will have added difficulties in many cases they will have two different rates to certain points.

NAME MILTON WOMAN HOME MISSION HEAD

Miss Lucy Walker Elected for Eighteenth Consecutive Time.—Janesville Women Honored.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 17.—By her reelection yesterday afternoon, Miss Lucy Walker of Milton enters upon her eighteenth consecutive term as president of the Wisconsin branch of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior (Congregational). The other officers also were re-elected, as follows: Vice president, Mrs. Emma Emery, Columbus; and Mrs. A. W. Ingersoll, Janesville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. A. Lewis, Baraboo; secretary of literature and press work, Miss Anne B. Sewell, Stoughton; recording secretary, Mrs. E. J. Johnson, Madison; secretary for young people's work, Miss Susan A. Jeffris, Janesville; secretary of children's work, Miss Mary A. Borden, Milton; treasurer, Mrs. E. Ray, Stevens; and auditor, George B. Merrick, Madison.

The convention will be held next year at Plymouth Church, Milwaukee. At the final session Thursday reports were given as follows: Winnie, bago district, Mrs. W. J. Johnson; Madison district, Mrs. C. F. Schuster; Milwaukee district, Mrs. F. E. Anderson; Beloit district, Miss Anna Repp. A paper making a plan for mission study classes was read by Mrs. W. Latta, Clinton. Miss Anna L. Howe, Kobe, Japan, gave a missionary address, and Mrs. M. A. Parsons, Delavan, spoke on "Ain't You With Our Missionaries." The closing words were by the president, Miss Walker.

THE LAND DIVIDED.

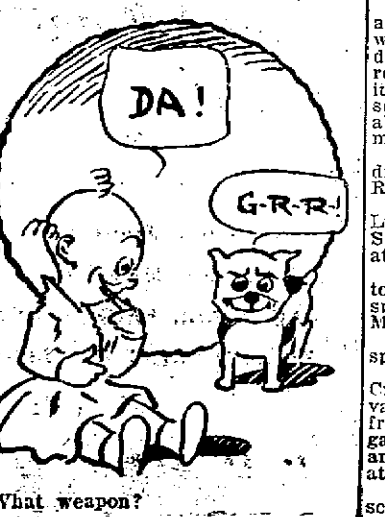

A South Carolinian writing from Panama to Senator Tillman, regretting the tragedy that overtook their fellow citizen of the Palmetto State, Colonel David D. Gaillard, said that South Carolinians ought to be proud of the fact that, although they were unsuccessful in their fight of half a century ago to divide the Union, they had been eminently successful in their later effort to cut the continents in two.

Certainly it is true that if ever soldier was immolated on the altar of his country that soldier was Colonel Gaillard, who died that Cuba cut might be finished.

The great story of this tremendous struggle against nature is to be found in "The Panama Canal" by Frederic J. Haskin. This book is being distributed by The Gazette for the bare cost of printing and handling. Save the coupon in this issue.

Patents to Inventors.

Richards S. C. Caldwell, solicitor of patents, 315 Majestic building, Milwaukee, formerly of Morsell & Caldwell, inventors of patents issued to Wisconsin on April 14, 1914, as follows: Louis E. Bogen, Milwaukee, motor control system; William S. Hare, Milwaukee, three-wheel truck; James M. Johnson, Racine, flat-iron cabinet; Anton T. Luckenbach, Xenia, wash-tub supporting leg; Harrison J. Mitchell, Beloit, clamping device for woodworking machine; Edward F. Paves, Sheboygan, bicycle stand; Paul Schilling, Milwaukee, mattress; Frederick A. Schwarzrock, Milwaukee, suitcase; Frank W. Seidl, Manitowish, jewel gauge; Frank Schurek, West Allis, and J. Schurek, Milwaukee, spoon-solder; Burt D. Stevens, Beloit, saw-mill carriage; George H. NELL MCCARTHY UNITED IN MARRIAGE WEDNESDAY TO CLAUDE WATSON

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Porter, April 16.—On Wednesday morning at eight o'clock at St. Joseph's church, as Miss Agnes Murphy sounded the notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march, a bridal procession wended its way down the church aisle to the altar, where Rev. J. B. Harlin performed the ceremony that united in marriage Miss Nell McCarthy and Claude Watson. The bride was becomingly attired in a pretty light blue suit. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Jennie McCarthy, who wore a dark blue suit. The groom was neatly attired in conventional black and James McCarthy, brother of the bride, acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary McCarthy, where a sumptuous four course wedding dinner was served. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. McCarthy and has always resided in Porter and is one of the most popular young ladies in social circles. The groom is a respectable young farmer of Stebbinsville and enjoys the acquaintance of a large circle of friends. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Claude Watson left for their new home at Stebbinsville, where they will be ready to receive their friends after June first. All join in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

On Monday afternoon one hundred lady friends assembled at the spacious country home of Mrs. Mary McCarthy to attend a miscellaneous shower given in honor of her daughter, Miss Nell, who on Wednesday became the bride of Claude Watson. The time was pleasantly spent with music and other entertainments. Many and beautiful were the presents showered on the bride. At five o'clock a dainty three course luncheon was served, after which the guests departed, wishing the bride much joy and happiness in her new home.

"CASCARETS" IF CONSTIPATED, HEADACHY, STOMACH SOUR OR BILIOUS--DIME A BOX

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets sweeten and regulate your stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas, take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your bowels clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bully and cheerful for months. Don't forget the children.

A Corn Planter That Almost Thinks

Earns Cost in One Season—Come in and See It

We are agents for this wonderful machine—a planter that enables you to realize on every atom of soil-nourishment. It increases the size of your crop—it increases the value of the land. Earns cost in single season—cuts down labor—saves time—so simple in construction, so durable in its vital parts that it can be operated successfully by anyone.

Plants Evenly Regardless of Speed

This machine solves the entire problem. No matter how fast or how slow your horses walk, the distance between each hill is always the same. This is accomplished by a positive force feed valve that regulates the drop. This means straight rows. Seeds are chosen, counted and planted with all the dexterity and accuracy of the human fingers. Every hill gets the number of seeds you want. This accuracy of drop is the result of over 25 years' actual experience. Tests prove this accuracy unequalled. Furthermore, the Rock Island No. 1 has a marvelous

Just whisk out one set of plates and whisk in another. It's done!

Trouble-Proof Clutch

Scores of owners of good-looking planters have been doomed to disappointment by the clutch—but not with ours. As the clutch is usually the first part to give trouble, we put a trouble-proof clutch on the Rock Island No. 1. It is the only automatic driving clutch and variable device that will successfully stand use and abuse.

Inspect this marvelous planter the next time you are in town. Better make it your special business to see us at once.

If you don't want to buy, no harm done; if you do want to buy, we will make you a right price.

Come in and take a look.

Perfect Convertible Drop

You don't have to lose time and temper when you want to shift from the use of flat seeds to round seeds. No trouble.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"Your yard is so clean, how do you manage it?" said a busy woman to her cousin who lived across the town from her. "I noticed as I came past your side yard that there is not a bit of rubbish to be seen."

"Why, that's easy," said her cousin, "Easy as can be." Just clean your yard first, then get your daily paper and look through the want ad columns for the phone number of some teamster who is wisely making use of his team in hauling away ashes and rubbish from the yards of his townspeople."

"I sent Sammy over a mile after school last night to get a man to come and haul our rubbish away. Then he could not come for at least a week."

"Read your want ad columns, your trotting about will be a thing of the past, as far as looking for service is concerned. I know, for I've been through all the worry and fuss you are now experiencing."

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A VOCATIONAL BUREAU.

HERE is a suggestion for women's clubs, teachers, in short for any persons or organizations interested in young people, and anxious to see them find themselves.

Every high school and grammar school needs a trade and vocation bureau. That is, some sort of an organization which will make an effort to tell young people about the trades and vocations open to them and help them find what they are fitted for.

Congential work is perhaps the greatest source of happiness. In the world.

Uncongenial work is one of the greatest sources of unhappiness.

And every year thousands of square pegs are unsuccessfully trying to fit themselves into round holes just because our young people's choice of a trade or vocation is left so largely to chance.

I wish that in every town or city in this country the women's club, or some other organization interested in young people, would form a trade and vocation bureau.

The work of the bureau would be to investigate and classify the various occupations and to tell the young people about them.

Where possible someone who had made good in each occupation would be asked to speak before the school. When this was not possible, it would be the work of the various members of the bureau to look up the necessary facts about the occupation and present them to the pupils.

By the necessary facts, I mean the cost of training and the best place to get it. The kind of temperament and ability required; the salary to be expected; the advantages and disadvantages; and other facts.

which might help each student to make up his mind whether that was the kind of work he would like to take up.

Some of the talks would be given in the grammar school and some in the high school. The bureau would have to study the situation in its town and decide accordingly. I should advise that the high school talks be given as early as the sophomore year, as the choice of a high school course might be affected by a decision of this sort. I required an extra year of preparation because I didn't decide what I wanted to do with myself until my last year in high school.

Besides giving these talks, the bureau would hold itself ready to help any student who cared to come to them for further information.

I met a woman whose daughter is in her last year at high school, the other day, and asked what they were going to do with her when she was through high school.

"We haven't any idea," she said. "It worries me, but I really don't know what to do about it."

The case is typical girl. That girl will probably drift into any opening presents itself. She will not find the work that she could do best and be happiest in doing.

Imagine a factory in which the tools and machinery were used haphazard for any kind of work. How efficient would it be?

The highest efficiency in a community can only be obtained when each human tool is being used for the work for which it is best fitted.

So it is a question not merely of individual happiness, but of the usefulness of the whole community.

Here's hoping this little seed of suggestion will find a root somewhere.

(1) Are we too young to have beaux? Should a girl of sixteen be engaged to a boy of eighteen? (2) Is it proper for a girl to invite a boy to come back again after he has called to see her? (3) We elapse too much when we are together. What can we do to prevent it? TWO GIGGLERS.

(1) Yes, my dears. Look upon all boys merely as good friends or confidants, but don't get sentimental about them, because the beaux you have at your age are never the kind you will care for when you are old enough to marry.

(2) No. They are both too young. (3) It would only be polite to ask him to come again. Don't be effusive about it.

(1) Just remember that the business of training now for the business of womanhood and that while you have a right to be happy and jolly, you also need to cultivate dignity for the responsibilities that will be yours, and to win the respect of other people. Just think, dears, that woman was the last and best thing that God created, and be worthy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy of nineteen and have a fine wealth of hair, but it is as brittle as a broom. I always comb and brush it, but to no effect. What should I do to make it otherwise?

Rub a little vaseline into the roots at night.

NEW FASHION NOTES

BY MARGARET MASON

Short Skirts Are Last Gasp of Fickle Fashion in Her Quest of More Freak Styles.

By Margaret Mason.

New York, April 17.—What a boon these new, thin, one-piece dresses will be to all fascinating lady blackmailed and shoplifters. Nowadays when Alicia, the alluring adventuress, leaves her hotel in a chic costume of black tulle, she is a sight to behold. With a brace of square-lawed, detached, high French heels, she departs not. Instead, she hurriedly turns the corner, pulls a string, and lo! she is gone. In her place, from top to toe, comes a new, thin, one-piece dress, of the law who are left bewildered, swallowing their chagrin and Adam's apples—and there you are!

But assuredly these are not the only circles which will receive the handy quick change costumes with open arms. The more circumspect embrace of the poor but honest society girl whose frocks must needs number more than a paltry pence awails them joyously.

A sample of the possibility of these chameleon like garments is a model of ash colored tulle with a soft toned tunic and skirt, banded in rose and blue striped taffeta. The tunic and the tunic and cape are turned wrong side out becoming a tunic of old blue taffeta. For the third and about the waist is a cord and the tunic gathers itself up into an acceptable bustle effect, while the cape is shed entirely. Naturally the combinations and surprises of these trick gowns are a little bewildering.

Since the skirts have reached the limits of narrowness they have been forced to bow to the law of locomotion and take up their skirts in other directions. Hence their upward trend and pronounced tendency toward abbreviation. The shorter your skirt the better seems to be the last gasp of fashion, and actually some of them are finished in this trend.

And double and treble rufflings on model it little matters if you are viciously take the hobbled and mincing of the maid of the last seasons some time to get her stride in the newest short and almost wide skirts.

And just to prove that the old adage "If you do it right, it's a new thing in its place" has no standing in the realms of mode, back combs are now being worn in front, if you please. It's the very smartest place for them. It's right over your forehead, tringe in the front fluff of the correct new high coiffure.

Whether you choose the zebra or a skin of peppermint candy as your model, the new, thin, one-piece dresses are very chic with the combination of blue and green as a close rival. Striped skirts in combination with plain jackets of taffeta or moire are decidedly good. While the Russian blouse suit with the plain blue toned duvetyra blouse finished round about the hips in a tunic of striped green and blue taffeta and silk sleeves of the same are stung with the plain duvetyra skirt. Stripes are even stamped in the tulle upon the smart spring hostess, mostly in black and white effects.

If a mere man meets a pretty maid these days, he is a little lecher. He case like a miniature medicine bag he mustn't build up hopes of annexing her as his family physician by any means. One case doesn't make a doctor particularly if it be a smart little leather affair in colored tulle. All the girls are carrying these practical small square leather boxes in lieu of the more conventional bags and purses of yore.

Opened up before the uninitiated they display a bewildering array of every little thing needed to repair, perfect or manufacture a complexion on the spot. You may have all the comforts and necessities of your dressing table at your finger ends, so no wonder femininity is quite mad about 'em.

Less practical as first aid to injured complexions, but more charming as accessories of rainy spring frocks are the brilliant hand colored bags of hand wrought leather, their tops incrustated with many colored semi-precious stones suspended on chains of gay-toned beads.

With an omnipresent bead neck chain to match, these illuminated leather bags are bright and effective touches to an otherwise monotonous toilette.

Since the main of yore was so devoted to telling her beads it is only meet that the maid today should see to it that beads are the telling part of her chic costume.

Daily Thought.

If we find but one to whom we can speak out our hearts freely, with whom we can walk in love and simplicity without dissimulation, we have no ground for quarrels with the world or God.—Stevenson.

Women Worth While

MRS. JOHN JACOB ROGERS.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

It is generally admitted, and by none more emphatically than Congressmen's wives, that a woman's first season in official life in Washington is a lonely one. However, Congressmen's wives may make her call and observe her days at home, she often feels an uncomfortable sense of detachment from the life and people about her. And however adaptable she may be to her new environment, she rarely finds herself before the end of a second winter at the capital.

A happy exception to this rule is Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, wife of Representative Rogers of Lowell, Massachusetts. Her husband succeeded Butler Ames, and is one of the Republican members of the foreign affairs and elections No. 2 committee. Few women make for themselves during their first few months in Washington so wide a circle of friends as Mrs. Rogers has made. Widely traveled, a good linguist, fond of out-of-door sports and society, she entered upon life at the capital a few months ago with a zest and enjoyment that have made her already one of the best liked women in the congressional set. She is an ardent advocate of athletic sports for women and girls for she attributes her own splendid health to her love and practice of them since childhood.

The young wife of Representative Rogers also has a great zest for politics. She has never appeared with her husband on a public platform, but she has been through his district with him on several trips. She knows personally a great number of his constituents, and takes a vital interest in anything that concerns them. Like most women in public life in Washington, Mrs. Rogers is informed on the politics of the day and follows national legislation closely. Music is another of her many interests, but she may be said to have a hobby, it is for foreign travel. She has spent much time abroad, and she and her husband went half way round the world on their wedding trip.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon. young American artist who lives in Paris and who ranks with Mary Cassatt as a painter of mothers and children, and whose first and only picture happens to be now among those owned by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, is a cousin of Mrs. Rogers. One of Miss Nourse's pictures, a small canvas which portrays motherhood and babyhood with great charm, is also owned by Mrs. Rogers. Three other interesting pictures in possession of the latter are portraits of herself, her mother and of Mr. Rogers' mother painted by Ipsen.

Mrs. Rogers drives her own car, and loves every phase of outdoor life. She rode a great deal as a child, and is devoted to fine horses. She is an ardent advocate of athletic sports for women and girls for she attributes her own splendid health to her love and practice of them since childhood.

"I Do My Own Washing Now!"

It's Easy With SKITCH—No More Rubbing, No More Ruining Hands in Hot Suds—SKITCH (10 cents for 7 Washings) Is a God-send on Wash Day.

SKITCH has completely done for the slavery and back-break of wash days! Throw your wash-boards away. Don't ruin your hands in hot suds. Three teaspoons of SKITCH to a boilerful of clothes and you can be doing up your housework or reading the paper while the dirt is just naturally sketched out of your clothes for you.

It's perfectly wonderful! Get a ten cent package of SKITCH and see what it does. SKITCH can't hurt your clothes—guaranteed not to injure the finest fabric. In fact SKITCH is so harmless you can eat it. It's so easy to do my washing now that I just thank God for SKITCH. I'm all done with my wash by noon now.

It used to be four o'clock. I use only a bar and a half of soap with SKITCH. It used to take four bars. And I don't have to ruin my hands in hot suds or tire my back and arms rubbing. SKITCH is fine. That's what Mrs. Joseph Bates, 524 Oakley Boulevard, Chicago, says, and it's what you will say if you'll get a 10 cent package of SKITCH and let it help you.

All grocers have SKITCH or can get it for you of the jobber—a ten cent package does seven big washings. Think of breaking your back over a wash-board for one cent. If your dealer won't supply you with SKITCH send me his name and I'll send you a sample free. Hans Fichtenberg, Milwaukee, Wis.

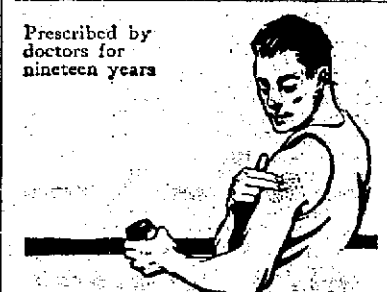

BIG CONGRESSIONAL WEDDING APRIL 18

Miss Anna Fortner.

Among the spring weddings in the official set at Washington, that of Miss Anna Fortner and Congressman Henry D. Flood of Virginia will take high rank owing to the prominence of the contracting parties. The marriage ceremony will take place on Saturday afternoon, April 18, and will be followed by a reception at "The Highlands," the fashionable apartment house where Miss Fortner now resides.

Kick He Had Coming. "Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced upon you?" asked the judge. "The only thing I'm kickin' about," answered the convicted burglar, "is bein' identified by a man that kep' his head under the bedclothes the whole time. That's wrong."—Puck.

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

The yolk of an egg will dry quickly if left exposed to the air. If dropped into a cup of cold water it will keep good a couple of days.

To clean carpet and keep moths out, before sweeping sprinkle with sawdust in which is added a cup of salt and enough water to moisten well. This will brighten the carpet and keep the moths out.

When black spots appear on the sink board, sprinkle with salt and rub with a cut lemon. Leave this on overnight and in the morning wash off and dry well. When most spots will disappear. If the spots are of long standing several applications may be necessary.

If grease is spilled on the kitchen rug cover the spot with a piece of blotting paper and place a warm iron over it. The paper will absorb the grease.

THE TABLE.

Fricassee of Asparagus—Wash a quarter of a hundred heads of asparagus, cut off the tender portion and drain them into cold water until they are required. Drain them and chop them with a young lettuce, half head of endive and a small onion. Put a piece of butter the size of an egg into a sauce pan, melt it, then add the asparagus, a dessertspoonful of flour and half a pint of stock. Add the chopped vegetables, with pepper and salt, and let it stew gently until the sauce is thick and smooth. Serve hot. Cook half an hour.

Onions' a la Creme—Peel four medium-sized Spanish onions and boil them in water slightly salted until they are sufficiently cooked. Drain them, cut them in halves and put them into a stewpan with three ounces of butter rubbed smoothly with a tablespoonful of flour and a little salt.

and white pepper. Shake the pan constantly and stir in by degrees one-half pint of cream or new milk. Serve the onions on toasted bread with the sauce poured over. Boil the quarter of an hour.

English Pancakes—One pint of milk, two eggs, one tablespoonful of sugar, one cupful of flour, one cupful of cream, pinch of salt. Sift the flour and salt together. Then add to this the eggs beaten with sugar and milk, and mix with a fork. Mix into a thin batter. Have a small round frying pan, melt a little butter in it, pour about one-half cupful of batter in it, turn the pan around so that the batter may cover the pan, put on a hot fire, turn it and brown the other side. Butter each and roll it up, sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Celery Fritters—Cut tender stalks of celery into inch lengths and roll them in grated cheese. Boil a cup of water with two tablespoonfuls of butter and add slowly a cup of flour. Stir five minutes. When partly cool add an egg, beat thoroughly, add other egg. Then add two ounces of grated American cheese and season with salt and pepper. Mold some of this paste about each piece of celery. Dip into a beaten egg and bread crumbs mixed with grated cheese. Fry in deep fat.

Send for The Cook's Book By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill It's FREE

Our instructions to the famous editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine were: "Get up a book of recipes of the things people like best. Find the best way to make and bake each one. Then write it out so plainly that even an inexperienced housewife can't have a failure."

"The Cook's Book" was the result. Some of the 90 recipes were originated, many of them were improved upon, and all were personally tested by this best known authority on cooking in America, and she tells so clearly how she made everything that one cannot go astray.

While some of the cakes and pastry are elaborate enough for any occasion, the recipes are all thoroughly practical and call for no expensive and unusual ingredients. In addition to telling how to make them, the book is beautifully illustrated in colors showing how to arrange and serve the dishes appetizingly.

More than half a million of "The Cook's Book" are now in use in American households. Yet the demand is constantly increasing. Many send for two or three at a time to give to friends or young housekeepers. Don't depend on borrowing one from a neighbor—have one of your own.

How to Get "The Cook's Book"

In every 25c can of K C Baking Powder is packed a colored certificate. Send us one of these certificates (paste it on a postal card if you like) with your name and address plainly written, and "The Cook's Book" will be mailed free of charge. Only one book for each certificate.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Takes Druggists' Advice With Splendid Result.

If any one should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it every day in the week and is in a position to know what remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Uline of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had a severe attack and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite and I am as strong as ever I was. I advise all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs, or who are run-down to try Vinol."

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron that makes Vinol so efficient in such cases.

Remember, we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Janesville, Wis.

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs

Many cases of Lung Trouble can be traced directly to a severe cold which has been neglected, and which, as a result, has affected the lungs. If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eukalan's Alternative is most beneficial in such cases and has been the means of completely restoring to health many persons who had serious lung trouble. Read of this case:

"Gentlemen: During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. The doctor pronounced it lung trouble. I tried nearly every preparation without any result and kept getting worse. At last, a friend recommended to me and I commenced using it as a last resort. The first bottle seemed to give no relief. In fact, I seemed to feel worse, but I kept on using the medicine and found out on the third bottle that it was really starting me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After taking the medicine for some time, my cough ceased. I gained flesh and today I am a well man."

The Valiants of Virginia

He laughed a little—not quite the laugh she had known in the past. "Yes, but I can hardly believe it; I seem to have been here half a lifetime. To think that a month ago I was a double-dyed New Yorker."

"It's been a strange experience for you. When you come back to New York—"

He looked at her, oddly she thought. "Why should I go back?"

"Why? Because it's your natural habitat. Isn't it?"

"That's the word," he said smiling. "It was my habitat. This is my home."

She was silent a moment in sheer surprise.

The Tournament Ball at Damory Court That Night Was More Than an Event.

surprise. She had thought of this Southern essay as a quickly passing incident, a colorful chapter whose page might any day be turned. But it was impossible to mistake his meaning. Clearly, he was deeply infatuated with this Arcadian experience and had no thought at present but to continue it indefinitely.

They were passing the entrance of a cherry-bordered lane, and without taking his hands from the gear, he nodded toward the low broad-eaved dwelling with its flowering arbors that showed in flashing glimpses of brown and red between the intervening trees.

"The palace of the queen!" he said—"Rosewood, by name."

She looked in some curiosity. Clearly, if not a refuge of genteel poverty, neither was it the abode of wealth; so, from her assured rampart of the Fargo millions, Katharine reflected complacently. The girl was a local favorite, of course—he had been tactful as to that. It was fortunate, in a way, that he had not seen her, Katharine, in the grand stand until afterward. Feeling toward her as she believed he did, with his absurd directness, he would have been likely to drop the rose in her lap, never reflecting that the tourney being a local function, the choice should not fall upon an outsider.

The slowing of the car brought her back to the present, and she looked up to see before them the great gate of Gladden Hall. She did not speak till they had quite stopped.

Then, as her hand lay in his for farewell, "You are right in your decision," she said softly. "This is your place. You are a Valiant of Virginia. I didn't realize it before, but I am beginning to see all it means to you."

Her voice held a lingering indefinable quality that was almost sadness, and for that slender instant, she opened on him the unmarked batteries of her glorious gray eyes.

The tournament ball at Damory Court that night was more than an event. The old mansion was an irresistible magnet. The floor of its yellow parlor was known to be of detectable hugeness. Its gardens were a legend. The whole place, moreover, was steeped in the very odor of old mystery and new romance. Small wonder that to this particular affair the elect —the major was the high custodian of the rolls, his decisions being as the laws of the Medes and Persians—came gaily from the farthest county line, and the big houses of the neighborhood were crammed with over-night guests.

By half past nine o'clock the phalanx of chaperons decreed by old custom had begun to arrive, and the great iron gate at the front of the drive—erect and rustless now—was an imposing procession of carriages. These passed up a slope as radiant with the fairy light of paper lanterns as a Japanese thoroughfare in festival season. The colored bulbs swung moon-like from trees and shrub, painting their rainbow lusters on grass and drive-way. Under the high gray columns of the porch and into the wide door, framed in its small leaded panes that glowed with the merry light within, poured a stream of loveliness: in carriage-wraps of light tints, collared and edged with fur or ermine, or wide-sleeved mandarin coats falling back from dazzling throats and arms, hair swathed with chiffon against the night dews, and gallantly cavaliered by masculine black and white.

These from their tiring-rooms overflowed presently, garbed like dreams, to make obeisance to the dowagers and then to drift through flower-lined corridors; the foam on recurrent waves of discovery. Behind the rose-bower in the hall, which shielded a dozen colored musicians—violins, cello, guitars and mandolins—came premonitory chirps and shivers, which presently wove into the low and dreamy melody of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Promptly as the clock in the hall chimed ten, the music merged into a march. Doors on opposite sides of the upper hall swung wide and down the broad staircase came, with slow step, a stately procession: two heralds in fawn-colored doublets with scroll and trumpet wound with flowers, behind them the Queen of Beauty, her fingertips resting lightly in the hand of the Knight of the Crimson Rose, and these followed by as brave a concourse of lords and ladies as ever graced castle-hall in the gallant days "when knight-hood was in flower."

Shirley's gown was of pure white; her arms were swathed in tulle, crossed with straps of seed-pearl, over which hung long semi-flowing sleeves of satin, and from her shoulders rose a stiff pointed medieval collar of Venetian lace, against whose pale traceries her bronze hair glowed with racy lights. The edge of the square-cut corsage was powdered with the pearls and against their sheen her breast and neck had the soft creamy ivory of magnolia buds. Her straight plain train of satin, knotted with fresh white, rose-buds (Nancy Chalmers had labored for a frantic half-hour in the dressing-room for this effect) was held by the seven-year-old Byloctwings, beribboned knickerbockers, duly impressed with the grandeur of their privilege and grimly intent on acquiring themselves with glory.

Shirley's face was still touched with the surprise that had swept it as Katharine had stepped to her side. She had looked to see him in the conventional panoply a sober-sided masculine mode decrees. What she had beheld was a figure that might have stepped out of an Elizabethan picture-frame. He was in deep purple slashed with gold. A cloak of this crimson velvet narrowly edged with ermine hung from his shoulders, lined with tissue-like cloth-of-gold. From the rolling brim of his hat swept a curling purple plume. He wore a slender dress-sword, and an order set with brilliant sparkles on his breast.

The costume had been one he had worn at a fancy ball of the winter before. It had been made from a painting at Windsor of one of the dukes of Buckingham, and it made a perfect foil for Shirley's white.

The eleven knights of the tourney, each with his chosen lady, if less splendid, were tricked out in sufficiently gorgeous attire. Many an ancient brocade had been awakened for its nonce from its lavender bed, and ruffs and gold-braid were at no premium.

To the twanging of the deft black fingers, they passed in gorgeous array between files of low-cut gowns and flower-like faces and masculine swallo-tails, to the yellow parlor. Once there the music ceased with a splendid crash, the eleven knights each dropped upon one knee, the eleven ladies-in-waiting curtsied low, and Shirley, seated upon the dais, leaned her burnished head to receive the crown. What though the bauble was but bristol-board, its jeweled chasing but tinsel and paste? On her head it glowed and trembled, a true diadem. As Katharine set the glittering thing on those rich and wonderful curls, the music of her presence was ringing a swift melody in his blood.

His coronation address held no such flowery periods as would have rolled from the major's soul. He had chosen a single paragraph he had lighted on in an old book in the library—a history of the last Crusade in French black-letter. He had translated and memorized the archaic phrasing, keeping the quaint feeling of the original.

"These noble knights bow in your presence, fair lady, as their leige, whom they know as even in judgment, as dainty in fulfilling these our acts of arms, and do recommend their all unto your Good Grace in as lowly wise as they can. O queen, in whom the

This little head was never made to wear a crown," she laughed. "Queens should be regal. Miss Fargo would have."

The music swept the rest away, but not the look of blinding reproach he gave her that made her heart throb wildly as she glided on.

The last note of the quadrille slipped into a waltz dreamily slow, and Katharine put her arm about Shirley and they floated away. Once before, in the moonlight garden at Rosewood, she had lain in his arm for one brief instant then she had seemed like some trapped wood-thrill resisting. Now, her slender body swaying to his every motion, she was another creature. Under the drooping tawny hair her face was almost as pale as the white satin of her gown; her lips were parted, and as they moved, he could feel her heart rise and fall to her languorous breath.

CHAPTER XXV.

By the Sun-Dial.

Eyes arched with fan-shielded whippers, and fair faces, foreshortened as they turned back over powder-white shoulders, followed their swallow-like movement. From an ever-widening circle of masculine devotees Katharine Fargo watched them with a smile that cloaked an increasing and unwelcome question.

Katharine had never looked more handsome; a critical survey of her mirror at Gladden Hall had assured her of that. Never had her pose been more superb, her toilet more enrapturing. She was exquisitely gowned in rose-colored mouseline-de-soie; embroidered in tiny brilliants laid on, en-

Greek patterns. From her neck, in a single splendid loop of iridescence against the rosy mist, depended those fabulous pearls—"the kind you simply can't believe," as Betty Page confided to her partner—on whose newspaper reproduction (actual diameter) metropolitan shop-girls had been wont to gaze with glistening eyes; and within their milky circle, on her rounded breast, trembled three pale gold-veined orchids.

Watching that quadrille through her drooping emerald-tinted eyes, she had received a sudden enlightening impression of Shirley's flawless beauty. At the tournament her fleeting glimpse had adjudged the other merely sweetly pretty. The Chalmers' surly had stopped en route for Shirley, but in her wraps and veil she had then been his first invisible. This had been Katharine's first adequate view, and the sight of her radiant charm had the effect almost of a blow.

For Katharine, be it said, had wholly surrendered to the old, yet new, attraction that had swept her on the tourney field. And what had lain all ways in the back of her mind as a self-formed intention, had become a half-admitted purpose during the motor ride.

Dinner Stories

A bachelor of considerable wealth was much sought after by many of the most charming young women of the town. A very pretty maiden was sure she had brought him almost to the point of a proposal.

"What was the happiest moment of your life?" she asked one evening.

"The happiest moment of my life," answered the bachelor, with a reminiscent smile, "was when the jeweler took back an engagement ring and gave me some cut links in exchange."

A tourist in Scotland came to a wide ferry. It was stormy and the wind was constantly increasing. The Scotch ferryman agreed to take the tourist across, but told him to wait until he had first taken a cow across.

Wisconsin Woman Finds Swift Relief From Stomach Troubles

Mrs. Brieske of Elkhart Lake Gets Wonderful Results From Remedy.

Mrs. W. C. Brieske of Elkhart Lake, Wis., after long suffering from derangements of the stomach and digestive tract, tried a dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The results she had long hoped for came quickly—with the first dose.

In a letter she told of her experience:

"After writing to let you know that your medicine has done me a lot of good, I have two more bottles to take. I have passed between five and six hundred accretions varying in size from a pea to a large hickory nut. I feel a whole lot better now. I am going to have my mother try your wonderful remedy."

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitations, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to J. P. Baker & Son, Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

How to Overcome a Bad Constipation

There is a Mild Laxative That Will Bring Safe and Pleasant Relief Over Night.

It is only natural that the simplest of ailments should be the most general and so we have a whole nation suffering from constipation and indigestion, for they are closely allied. But common as constipation is many people do not seem to know they have it. They will complain of headache, drowsiness or biliousness, all unaccountable of the cause of the trouble.

You should have a full and free movement at least once a day. If you pass a day you are constipated, and the result will be that you will catch a cold easily or have a more serious ailment. To cure the constipation and forestall still graver trouble take a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night before retiring and by morning relief will come without disturbance from sleep or any inconvenience.

Legions of people use it regularly in such emergencies, some of them formerly chronic invalids who had suffered from constipation all their lives. Mrs. N. Frantz, 67 Eighth St., Salem, Ohio, took physics for years, and, worst of all, without much avail. Finally, she began to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and today she is no longer troubled and eats what she likes. Many others will tell you that they have tried most things recommended for this purpose but have found Syrup Pepsin the only one always reliable. A bottle can be obtained at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by families already familiar with its merits.

MRS. N. FRANTZ, being bought by families already familiar with its merits. Syrup Pepsin is mild, pleasant tasting and non-gripping. Mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is effective in grownups. It is for everyone who suffers from any form of stomach, liver or bowel trouble, constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, etc. Its action will so delight you that you will forever avoid harsh cathartics, purgatives, pills and salts. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St. Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Name of a State in United States.

IT'S TIME TO OUST DICTATORS TO FREE STATE SAYS HOARD

FORMER GOVERNOR URGES BAD-
GER VOTERS TO USE BAL-LOT TO DEFEAT COM-MISSION RULE.

SOCIALISM IN DISGUISE

Entire Progressive System in Wisconsin Comes in for Thorough
Scoring.—Managers Name
Candidates.

Declaring the voters of Wisconsin, by means of the primary election and government, by commissions system, have fallen under the silent control of a few political managers and have lost self-government as completely as if they were the subjects of a despot, Atkinson has issued a passionate appeal to the electorate of the state to make use of the coming fall election for the purpose of shaking off the tyranny of the few and restoring genuine majority rule.

Calls Progressives Socialists.
The former governor does not handle the "progressivism" with gloves. All the evils that the state has ground under for fourteen years he lays at the door of those Madison politicians who, in his opinion, are unadulterated socialists sailing under the flag of republicanism. He finds the root of all oppression, bureaucracy, excessive taxation and commission rule in the primary system which he declares, is merely a device for the stealing of power from the many to the few.

"Under the old caucus rule," he says, "with all its faults, you could come together in district and county conventions and voice your opinions. Under the primary you are as silent as the dead."

Legislature is Powerless.
The legislature, he points out, is merely a shadow of its former self. A solemn mockery. "Every member of the senate or assembly you send to Madison finds that he is powerless to serve his constituents of his state in a truly representative sense. He must come under the commission control or remain a nonentity."

"As certain as you live," he exclaims, "you will find that progressivism is nothing but a combination of political jobbery with a grain of honest statesmanship kept you out of, or lead you out of, difficulty. Will you lean on this broken and treacherous reed any longer?"

The former governor's appeal, which is addressed "To the Voters of Wisconsin," is as follows:

Scores Progressive System.
"You are loudly and justly complaining of the oppressive and terribly expensive system of state government now being imposed on you—

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!
In practical citizens and look at the question in a constructive way. For fourteen years you have been in a sort of political nightmare; hypnotized by a set of very shrewd and cunning politicians. You are the victims of a most cunningly devised system which, from the primary to the last act of the legislature, was intended to steal away your political control over your own affairs over your expression of your political choice of men to serve you, and the platform which should express what you want and mean. This stealing of power from the many to the few, begins in the primary. Under the old caucus rule, with all its faults, you could come together in district and county conventions and voice your opinions. Under the primary you are as silent as the dead. Then, when it came to the making of a platform, your representatives, or delegates, not nominees, set forth what you stood for.

Managers in Control.
"Now you have no word to say. The candidates, under the silent control of a few political managers, make the platform and advertise it as your opinion and expressed will, the demand of the people. Was there ever a bigger falsehood, a more transparent humbug, a more plausible cheat, a more complete silencing of the people's voice?"

"Now the system has completely changed the course of legislation under its combined leadership with the university professors. Formerly every legislature was master of itself and of its own procedure. Now we have forty-six times called commissions, in which is concentrated the control over the nature, purpose and passage or rejection of every law. Every member of the senate or assembly you send to Madison finds that he is powerless to serve his constituents, or his state, is a truly representative sense. He must come under this commission control or remain a nonentity. You can no longer be surprised at the effect on him. The effect finally upon legislation is the passage of an overwhelming mass of crude, ill digested, impracticable, as well as oppressive laws, which of necessity take an enormous amount of money out of your pockets."

Voter a Nonentity.
"Can you not see where the trouble begins? You, Mr. Voter, are nothing but a nonentity, and you have consented to your own political emasculation by allowing this progressive scheme to have control. It has called itself 'republican,' but it is no more resembles republicanism of the Abraham Lincoln type, than does the rank socialism. In fact, it is plain and unadulterated state socialism where the people are not considered fit to govern themselves, and must be controlled by a lot of unscrupulous non-paying politicians, and made to pay grievously for their abandonment of what we once knew as a safe, sound republican system of party action and state control."

Use Ballot, He Urges.
"Now what shall we do, you say? First of all, keep this subject in mind and don't forget it. Next, when you come to the primary, turn out like men. Don't leave the nomination of member of the legislature to a beggarly 20 per cent of the party, as you have done so since the primary was established. The primary is bad in its results, but it is a hundred times worse when you neglect it and stay away from it. If a progressive politician shows his head for office anywhere, spot him! Let not a single guilty man escape. Vote him down in the primary if you can, but be sure to do so in the final election. Take no stock in their recent milk and water professions of economy. That is the same sort of progressive guff that you have been fooled with all along, and which you are paying for now. Vote out the progressives in either party. You have had enough of them. Put up the conservative men. Then, whether democrats or republicans win, you will have a safe, reliable lot of men in the legislature, that you can rely upon to overhaul this mass of political debauchery that has been foisted upon the people of the state."

Remember Your Forefathers.
"As I view the situation, there is no other way to escape from the clutches of these cornucopia who are fooling no one as to their real character and purpose but you. You have allowed this dellish of La Folletteism to steal away your political and industrial liberties and load you with oppressive taxation. Do you think your fathers, back in 1861, would have taken such a state of affairs as tamely as you are doing? Not much! They were citizens of blood and energy who knew when they had been grossly deceived. Are their sons of the same blood and iron quality their fathers were, or are they a different race of men, ready to feed out of the hand of any demagogue that can tickle them with his humbug stuff about progressivism? As certain as you live, when time shall have given you the last analysis, you will find that progressivism is nothing but a combination of political jobbery with not an ounce in it of the kind of politics you want, for a grain of difficulty. Will you lean on this broken and treacherous reed any longer?"

Avoid Self-Consciousness.
To think about oneself all the while is to turn energy in on oneself continually that might much better go out in unselfish action. The self-conscious person needs to pour out this force of attention and thought instead of concentrating it on self and wasting it in awkward embarrassment and hurt pride.—Great Thoughts.

CATARH TROUBLE ENDED BY HYOMEL

You Breathe It—No Stomach Dosing
Clears the Head.

Surely try Hyomel—nature's remedy for catarrh, head colds, sniffles, or croup of infants—a remedy that not only instantly clears the head and gives prompt and lasting benefit in all cases of catarrhal troubles, but is perfectly harmless and pleasant to use.

When using Hyomel you are treating your catarrh troubles with the natural remedy—no roundabout method, but a direct-to-the-point way. It's folly to doctor catarrh of the breathing organs with stomach medicine; instead, breathe Hyomel. Its curative and antiseptic medication will immediately reach the mucous membrane cells in the nose, throat, and lungs; quickly heal and soothe the raw, inflamed membrane. You feel better at once.

Hyomel has benefited so many sufferers of the worst cases of catarrh, cold in the head, bronchitis, and weak or husky voice, that it is always sold by Smith Drug Co., under absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed. Ask any druggist for a complete Hyomel outfit, $1.00 size. It contains inhaler and bottle of liquid.

Character Told by Thumb.

In telling the character, and from a mechanical point of view, the thumb is important. The loss of the right thumb is held at 35 per cent. of the value of the whole hand; of the left 15 per cent. The index finger is rated next on the right hand at 20 per cent.

Happy Dreams.

It's possible for de po' man ter be des ez happy ez de millionaire—if you'll give him time ter sleep an' dream that he is rich.—Atlanta Constitution.

Keeping Aluminum Bright.

To remove stains from aluminum cooking utensils dissolve four table-spoonfuls of oxalic acid crystals in a gallon of water. Let this boil in the dishes for five minutes, then wash and rinse carefully with clean water.

Feminist Aphorism.

Austin Bricklayers Cement

A Specially Prepared Material For the Laying of Stone and Brick.

The raw material from which Austin Bricklayers Cement is manufactured is a selected stone of the very highest quality, dense and solid so that, when calcined and ground with the addition of sand and water making a mortar that becomes as hard as granite.

This cement is ground very fine, all passing over a New-ago Cement Screen, producing a finished product very fine and uniform.

On account of the slow setting qualities Austin Bricklayers Cement is particularly adapted for brick and stone masonry, laying concrete blocks, plastering on stone and brick walls.

The mortar should be tempered to suit the different kinds of work. By retempering it will work long and smooth; use clean, sharp sand and mix thoroughly.

This Cement is preferred by Contractors and Builders as it does not require any time for slaking. It is ready for immediate use with the mixing of sand. It is packed in cloth and paper sacks; three to the barrel.

The test on Austin Bricklayers Cement made in different cities proves it to be the strongest Cement of its kind on the market. A copy of tests will be furnished upon application.
